

Manual Test Plan

To test the data visualization, one may change the constants at the top of data_vis.py to specify what node to start at, and how many nodes to expand. For the following two graphs, both start at Bruce Willis, but the first has more spacing between depth levels, and has more connections on the first level and goes to a further depth.

